Whereas, in order to stimulate the national economy, it is necessary to take all useful measures to speed up the rate of directly productive investments;

Whereas private investments, both national and international, are the determining factor in economic growth and development;

Whereas it is necessary to create a favorable investment climate in Haiti through the granting of legal guarantees and through the implementation of simple and efficient regulations;

Whereas in the context of its program to combat poverty, the government aims to facilitate economic growth, technology transfer and the integration of national production by giving priority to the Tourism, Agriculture, and Handicrafts sectors, as well as the development of Small and Medium Enterprises and Foreign Trade Zones;

Whereas, to guarantee sustainable development in Haiti, it is appropriate to cause productive activity to be more environmentally safe;

Whereas, for all these reasons, it is appropriate to modify the Investment Code so that it takes into account all the various goals mentioned above;

On the report of the Ministers of Commerce and Industry, of the Economy and Finances, and after deliberation at the Ministers Council;

The executive power has proposed and the legislative body has passed the following law:

PART I - INTRODUCTORY PROVISIONS

CHAPTER I - PURPOSE OF THE CODE

Article 1.- The purpose of this Investment Code is to promote economic growth and development in Haiti by facilitating, liberalizing, stimulating and guaranteeing private investments within the confines of the laws, the Constitution, Treaties, Agreements and Concords to which the Republic of Haiti is a party.

Article 2.- The State grants general guarantees to all investors. In the context of this Code, it defines the general conditions and types of incentives granted in Haiti, to certain kinds of investments likely to increase competitiveness in sectors which are considered priorities or strategically important and because of their respective contributions to added value, to the creation of sustainable employment, to the renewal of national production equipment; to economic growth; to the reduction of balance of payments deficit and to the creation of a national labor force.

Article 3.- Similar guarantees are granted to all physical persons or corporate bodies who are active in the production of goods or in the supply of services in the sense defined by this Code, whatever their nationality, provided that they are legitimately established on the territory of the Republic.

The guarantees, which are applicable to any investment whatsoever, constitute standard procedure. Exemptions from duty and from taxes as well as other special benefits are part of the incentive programs.

Article 4.- The benefits guaranteed and other privileges granted by virtue of this Code may not be limited or removed for the duration of the period for which they are granted.

However, the provisions of the preceding clause are not to be applied in cases of infringement of the law, of failure of the beneficiary to comply with the obligations resting upon him/her, of abuse of the privileges received or of breach of commitments in consideration for which these privileges had been granted.

The investments made under the auspices of this code may however take advantage of any new legislation which benefits them.

CHAPTER II- DEFINITIONS

Article 5.- In the sense of this Code, the following is understood:

a) Incentive privileges: Any favorable legal provision, granting an exemption from standard procedure, from which specific economic agents benefit in order to stimulate their sector;

b) Foreign trade Enterprise: Any resident or non-resident physical person or corporate body within a foreign trade zone involved in a production activity or in the sale of goods or of services exclusively oriented towards exportation.

c) Foreign trade Commercial enterprise: Any foreign trade enterprise for the processing or wholesale trade of export goods and services.

d) Foreign trade Industrial enterprise: Any enterprise involved in the production of goods, the supply of services or the assembly of products to be exported.

e) Duty and tax exemption: The exoneration of all customs duties and any other duty, tax and charge whatsoever except user fees for the use of public services.

f) Investment: The assignment of assets, of production activities, of goods or of services in such a way that they are no longer immediately available for consumer needs.

g) Priority investment: Any investment eligible for incentive benefits within the terms of this Code.

h) Preferred investment Any investment made under the auspices of this Code in an area which is considered to be of particular interest for the ordered development of a sector provided for by the Code.

i) Investor: Any physical person or corporate body who assigns resources to the production of goods and services such as indicated in point (f).

j) Enterprise: An economic and technological commercial entity, which is financially independent and is working towards essentially producing or supplying certain goods or services.

k) Preferred product: The good belonging to one of the sectors defined as preferred for production and for which an enterprise benefits from certain fiscal and customs exemptions.

l) Revenue: The consideration of what an investment earns such as profit, fees or interest (direct or indirect remuneration), as well as all proceeds from the transfer of assets.

m) Preferred revenue: Revenue attributable to a preferred investment or to a preferred product.

n) Suspension arrangements comparable to the foreign trade zone: Customs warehouses, international transit, drawback and temporary entry system for active development and for re-export in the state or any other system combining several of these features among them.

o) Inter-Departmental ? Commission on Investments: A public cross-sectoral organism the purpose of which is to decide on the opportunity to grant the benefits prescribed by this Investment Code.

CHAPTER III- SCOPE

Article 6.- This Code is applied to all private investments both national and foreign. The benefits of this Code cover enterprises working towards improving the environment. The Ministry of the Environment and/or any other organism working in its stead, can through reasoned opinion recommend the annulment of benefits granted in the context of this Code if the processes of manufacture generate negative externalities exceeding generally accepted levels.

TITLE II - GENERAL GUARANTEES

CHAPTER I- ON FREEDOM OF ENTERPRISE

Article 7.- The investor enjoys the freedom to make any investment or take any Trade action authorized by the laws and the Constitution, notably the right to:

- a engage in the economic activity of his/her choice;
- b employ or terminate personnel in accordance with the provisions of the Labor Code;
- c market his/her production of goods and services;
- d freely establish management methods in his/her business;
- e choose his/her sources of supplies;
- f be a member of any association operating in the same field.

Article 8.- The State will refrain from any interference in the activities of the private enterprise except to ensure that the laws and regulations in effect are respected.

The rejection of a request for entry into one of the exemption arrangements does not imply any limit on freedom of enterprise but rather signifies that the investment concerned is covered by standard procedure.

CHAPTER II - ON THE PRINCIPLE OF NON-DISCRIMINATION

Article 9. - Subject to constitutional provisions, no monopoly can exist in favor of an enterprise, whether public or private.

Article 10. - When a State enterprise or an enterprise controlled by the State and a Haitian or foreign private enterprise are engaged in competing economic activities, they are subject to the same laws.

Article 11.- Haitian investors and foreign investors enjoy the same rights and privileges. However, foreign investors residing in Haiti must obtain permission to reside. No other authorization, license or permit which is not required of Haitian investors is applicable to foreign investors. Foreign investors pay taxes, duties and levies according to the schedules and regulations which are applicable to Haitian investors.

The right to real estate property is guaranteed to foreign investors for the needs of their enterprise. Investors have the same rights and prerogatives as Haitian investors in fulfilling the main purpose of their enterprise.

CHAPTER III- ON THE MOVEMENT OF CAPITAL

Article 12.- The reimbursement of debts incurred abroad for an investment made in Haiti is not subject to any constraint or taxation.

CHAPTER IV- ON THE GUARANTEE OF THE RIGHT TO PROPERTY

Article 13.- The right to property is guaranteed and protected by the State. Expropriation is allowed only when for the common public interest after payment of just and previous compensation equivalent to the market value of the property, as determined by expert appraisals. The State cannot demolish, or take possession of the property before compensation has been effectively paid.

Article 14.- Intellectual property is guaranteed and protected by law. Any person found guilty of counterfeiting will be submitted to the penalty provided for by the law.

CHAPTER V - ON LEGAL PROTECTION

Article 15.- Foreign and Haitian investors enjoy equal protection under the Law. Court decisions and arbitration sentences passed abroad are enforceable in Haiti, subject to the formalities provided by the Code of Civil Procedure and in the international agreements to which the Republic of Haiti is a party.

Article 16.- Foreign investors who are plaintiffs in Haiti are exempted from the “judicatum solvi” bond in any civil case involving an investment in Haiti.

TITLE III - STANDARD PROCEDURE

Article 17.- Subject to restrictions involving national interest and sanctioned by the Constitution and by the law, physical persons and corporate bodies regardless of nationality are guaranteed:

- The right to freely dispose of their properties and to organize according to their wishes their production and trade activities;
- Freedom to recruit and employ;
- Protection of trademarks, patents and labels as well as other forms of industrial protection;
- The transfer of dividends and other revenues, such as described under title I Chapter II article 5 (l) and article 5 (m).

Article 18.- In addition to general rights and guarantees mentioned above, certain types of investments, which are considered likely to make a particular contribution to the socio-economic development of the country, can benefit from incentives defined and regulated by this Code.

TITLE IV – INCENTIVES

CHAPTER I- ON ELIGIBLE INVESTMENTS

In the event that the original decision is upheld, a claim shall be submitted to an Appeals Committee which shall include the General Directors of the Ministries responsible for the Economy and Finance who shall preside the committee, of Tourism, and the General Director of the Ministry or the Institution concerned. A period of fifteen (15) days is also provided for this action to take place.

Article 58.- The claim is receivable only under the following circumstances:

- 1) When a company which is already established in Haiti considers that the benefits granted to a competing enterprise are detrimental to its interests and applies for the same benefits; 2) When one of the parties involved is not satisfied with the decision of the Inter-Departmental Commission on Investments in the event of a rejection or of a partial approval.

Article 59.- Within eight (8) business days following submittal of the claim, the Minister responsible for the Economy and Finance will call a meeting of the Appeals Committee. At this meeting, to which the investor may be invited, the president of the Inter-Departmental Commission on Investments shall present the case and shall support the Commissions arguments. The Committee has up to eight (8) days to decide on the case and shall submit a report to the Ministry in charge of the Economy and Finance. The decision shall be reasoned.

Article 60.- The Appeals Committee may sustain or reverse the Commission's decision. The Appeals Committee shall report to the Minister in charge of Economy and Finance who shall inform the investor and the commission of the final decision. If a decision by Commission to reject is sustained, then the request shall definitely be rejected.

In the event of a reversal of the original decision, the commission shall decide once again on the case, within the same time limits as provided for above.

CHAPTER V- RESPONSIBILITIES

Article 61.- The companies benefiting from exemptions under the terms of this law remain subject, under pain of fines, to the formalities of submittal of financial statements and other fiscal responsibilities in the forms provided for by the law. However, the exonerated charges shall not be required during the exemption period.

Article 62.- The enterprise benefiting from incentives has the duty to comply with the activities and production program as well as the implementation schedule submitted with the admissions application, under pain of sanctions established by the preceding Clause.

However, this provision is not applicable to all companies having obtained authorization for modifications as provided for in Article 72 of this Code.

Article 63.- Any enterprise benefiting from incentives must maintain an accounting system in accordance with accounting standards in effect in Haiti. This accounting system should consider the benefits obtained as contributions and should clearly indicate the portion of revenue which is attributable to preferred activities or products in cases where only a portion of production is approved.

Article 64.- The price of goods and services produced by the enterprise accepted for preferred arrangements and working for the local market shall be forwarded every six (6) months, and in all cases previous to their entry into effect, to the Ministry of Commerce and Industry. The comments of the competent Ministry shall be forwarded to the party concerned within up to twenty (20) days.

Article 65.- Any enterprise benefiting from customs duty exemptions must be capable of justifying at any time the use it has made of these exemptions. To these ends, it must maintain a stock book to be quoted by the General Tax Service. This stock book shall list exclusively the merchandise ordered and received free of duties with all indications that might be useful in the course of an inspection.

However, any enterprise concerned by this Code and using a different accounting system must advise the competent institutions of such and bring to their attention the software used as well as the methods utilized in auditing the information. Failure to notify of such shall result in sanctions for non-maintenance of accounting books as required by the law.

Article 66.- Companies benefiting from incentives must keep the stock book mentioned in the preceding clause updated and present it on the request of the competent services following a duly prepared report. In addition, the enterprise must present, on the 10th of each month at the latest, a production report for the preceding month in conformance with a form delivered by the Ministry in charge of the Economy and Finance. This report, duly certified, shall be addressed to the competent Ministry and to the General Customs Administration.

Article 67.- Once its operations have been launched, any enterprise benefiting from customs duty and fiscal exemptions on imports, shall forward to the competent service of the competent Ministry its plan for the use of raw materials and all other items received duty free as well as its production schedule, for comments and audit.

Article 68.- Companies benefiting from customs duty and fiscal exemptions may not engage in the trade of merchandise imported duty free or of merchandise similar to that received duty free, barring exceptions provided for in Article 70 of this Code.

Article 69.- Any enterprise considering the sale, disposal, transfer or use for purposes other than those provided for, of the merchandise imported duty free must previously obtain authorization from the competent Ministry as well as that of the Economy and Finance Ministry. The sale and transfer to another enterprise benefiting from similar exemptions shall not incur the levying of any taxes. In cases where the same operations are implemented for the benefit of companies which are not concerned by this Code, the beneficiary may not take possession of the property concerned until appropriate customs duties and other taxes have been paid.

Article 70.- In both of the cases mentioned in the preceding clause, the operation implemented must be registered on the stock book accompanied by the date of authorization by the competent Ministry as well as the numbers and payment dates of the tax invoice payment for which a receipt has been given, as the case may be.

Article 71.- Companies enjoying the benefits provided for by this Code must submit to the competent Ministry once a year, in a time limit which shall not exceed three (3) months following the closing of their fiscal year, a report on its financial status, the progress of its installation process, its employment and professional training situation as well as any extension project under consideration for the following fiscal year.

Article 72.- Any enterprise enjoying incentive benefits that is considering modifying its investment, employment, orders for imported goods or production program which had been approved at the time of its application for admission into the arrangement, must as soon as possible advise the Ministry concerned of such for its information and for a sound evaluation of the justification for the changes to be implemented and of their possible consequences.

CHAPTER VI- MONITORING

Article 73.- Companies enjoying the benefits provided for in this Code shall undergo regular audits intended to ensure that their operations are taking place according to the prescriptions of the law and to the commitments made. This audit shall be undertaken, on the one hand, by the respective Ministries concerned and on the other hand by the Economy and Finance Ministry.

For this purpose, the companies concerned must scrupulously maintain all books required in the prescribed form. They shall give duly mandated agents from the abovementioned institutions free access to their establishments and shall submit on request all books, documents and supporting documents or information necessary in efficiently accomplishing their task. The confidential nature of the information provided shall be strictly abided by and the auditors sworn in and legally beholden to professional confidentiality.

CHAPTER VII- SANCTIONS

Article 74.- In the event of non-compliance with the responsibilities entered into by this Code, the enterprise proven to be at fault will undergo withdrawal of all incentive benefits. These measures shall be taken by the Inter-Departmental Commission on Investments on the request of the competent institutions from the Ministries concerned, and the enterprise shall not be entitled to claims for compensation and no restrictions shall be brought on possible penal sanctions.

Article 75.- In the event that sanctions be brought against a company, the various administrative agencies shall be notified of the decision to withdraw benefits by the Minister in charge of Economy and Finance. When the decision to withdraw results in partial suppression or in withdrawal of incentive benefits, invoices for customs duties and taxes shall be issued by fiscal authorities for the period in question.

Article 76.- Any failure to fulfill the duties provided for in Chapter II on responsibilities, in articles 61 et seq. of this Code will render the enterprise at fault and liable to a fine of fifteen thousand gourdes (Gdes. 15,000.00) to five-hundred thousand gourdes (Gdes. 500,000.00) collectible through administrative measures of constraint by the General Tax Service without restrictions on further sanctions provided for by the legislation in effect.

Article 77.- Any sale, disposal or transfer and any type of unforeseen use of the properties exempted which is effected contrary to the provisions of Article 70 shall be considered illegal and fraudulent. The properties so sold, transferred, disposed of or diverted from their destination shall be subject to twice the import duties provided for by the legislations in effect. Collection of these duties shall be effected through administrative measures of constraint in accordance with the laws and regulations in effect.

The offender shall be subject to a fine of 30% of the duties due to be imposed by the Correctional Court on the action and care of the Public Prosecutor, without restrictions on actions that might be brought against accomplices.

These fines shall be collected by the General Tax Service and payable to the Public Treasury. In the event of repeat offenses, the offender shall be sentenced to pay 100% of the duties due, over and above payment of doubled duties and the incentive benefits granted to the enterprise by virtue of this Code shall automatically be revoked.

Article 78.- Similarly, any action that may or that has resulted in undue exonerations such as false statements concerning for example the number, the characteristics, the cost and the destination of exonerated goods, falsifying supporting documents, illicit trade or diversion of materials, shall be subject to the same actions and sanctions as listed above. Accomplices shall be subject to the same sanctions as perpetrators.

TITLE VI- TRANSITORY AND FINAL PROVISIONS

CHAPTER I- TRANSITORY PROVISIONS
